THE P R E F A C E.

TH E Burthening of the Memory with more than is necessary, at the Entrance upon any Study, is certainly a great Discouragement to the Learner. I have therefore, in the present Vocabulary, avoided every Thing that is not of immediate Use, as Foreign to the Design; and industriously omitted that vast Heap of Words with which our common Word-Books do so frightfully swell. And this I have done, not with an Intention to arraign the Things of this Kind already printed, or to condemn them as useless, until I am better acquainted with their Authors Intentions: But this I will allow myself to affirm, That they are by no means properly adapted to School Purposes. For why should a Person that is to be prepared for the Reading of Cor-derius, derius, Phædrus, &c. be lead through a Crowd of Modern Barbarisms, and loaded with a Multitude of Words which the Romans never heard of; and so consequently, will never be met with in any Claſſick, or good Latin Author? A few of which I ſhall take the Liberty to Inſtance, as they ſtand in the Books already abroad. Such are Ingratitudo, Groſſularia, Ribes, Levitticum, Nicotiana, Piſtacia, Aurantium, Papio, Hyſpaniolus, &c.

Not to mention the Abundance of wrong Significations which they have given to Latin Words; a Fault ſcarce excuſable, ſince it betrays the Learner into ſuch Miſtakes as will for ever hinder his true Underſtanding of a Roman Author. Such are their rendering Arbustum, for a Shrub; Carmen, for one ſingle Verſe; Humilitas, for the Virtue that is contrary to Pride; Humilis, for one that is endowed with it; Camera, for a Chamber; Caminus, for a Chimney; Æs, for Braſs; Pædagogus, for a Schoolmaſter; Alpumen, the White of the Eye; Laurus, for a Laurel; and an endless Number of the like, which to repeat would be as unpleaſant here, as they are unprofitable where they are. It would be too tedious likewiſe, to take Notice how often they confound Adjectives with Subſtantives, uſing them as ſuch: The putting in of Phraſes; the giving Latin Names to Modern Things; the uſing Circumlocutions, or two or three Words to expreſs one in Engliſh; the throwing in of ſo many compounded Words upon the Back of one another. And laſtly, the inserting only of Nouns, as if Speech was made up of but one ſort of Words.

Whereas, a Vocabulary ought to contain a Stock of pure primitive Words, and ſuch principally, as will be required to be known in the reading the firſt eaſy School Authors: Which when the Scholar is once Maſter of, he will daily and inſenſibly be increaſing.

The PREFACE.

creasing, as he proceeds to other Books ; where the Sense assists the Memory, and which will a thousand times more effectually acquaint him with their true Signification, than a Heap of barren Words, as they are drily strung together in the ordinary Nomenclatura's.

This following Collection, I suppose will be abundantly sufficient for the fitting of a Learner to enter upon the reading of Corderius, the Latin Testament, Erasmus, Phædrus, Æsop, Cato, Ovidii Tristia, &c. the Words being mostly Primitive, and such as frequently occur in the Books afore-mentioned. Indeed, here and there you will meet with a Compounded Word, but that is but seldom ; and which we were forced to receive, because it is observable, that some Derivatives and Compounded Words are often more used than the Simple and Primitive.

Care has been taken to let no Word come in here, but what is purely Roman, and has the Authority of some one, or more of the Classick Authors ; and if for Method sake, we have been obliged sometimes to make use of a Word less pure than the rest, or whose Signification may be more doubtful, we have not failed to set a Mark upon it as such, or thrown it under the Page, among the Notes.

The true and Primitive Signification of the Words, as used among the best Authors, is given, almost all Metaphorical and borrowed Significations being laid aside, that so the Learner might not only have pure Words, but also a clear Understanding of their Meaning.

I have omitted several Words, which may be easily deduced from some other : For, when a Boy knows that Legere is Latin for to read ; Audire to hear, and can tell what the Supines signify, he may be easily taught how that from the first Supine, by changing Um into Or, a Noun Substantive is formed, which signifies the Doer; as, from Lectum, to read, comes Lector, a Reader. From Auditum, to hear, comes Auditor, a Hearer. So, when he has learned the Significations of Vocare, Ponere, Venire; if he be informed, That these Prepositions, Ad, Con, De In, Præ, Pro, Re, Sub, Super, being Compounded, signify To, Together; Down, or From; In, or Upon; Before, or First; Forth, Back, or Up; Under, Upon, or Over, he will presently know that Advocare, signifies to call to; Convocare, to call together; Devocare, to call down; Invocare, to call upon; Præponere, to put before; Proponere, to put forth; Reponere, to put back; Subponere, to put under; Super-venire, to come upon, or over. So, he that knows what Amicus, Avarus, signify, will soon learn what Amicitia, Avaritia mean: As, he that knows what Liber, Culter are, will soon tell you that Libellus is a little Book, Cultellus a little Knife. Likewise by him who hath learnt that Tepere, Calere, signify to be Warm, to be Hot; the Significations of Tepos, Calor will be presently understood.

I have indeed put in three or four Verbal Nouns, or Nouns which are derived of Verbs, as Pastor, Arator; but the so doing was needful, in order to make some other Words the better to hang together.

One Thing to be observed is, That in the composing of this little Book, respect has been had all along to those Words that are most usual in the Latin Tongue, and not in the English; since this is a Vocabulary for the Learning of the former Language, and not of the latter. Besides, many things which do frequently occur in our Tongue, were unknown to the Romans; and and therefore, you cannot expect Latin Words for them; since the Romans could not give Names to things they knew nothing of.

As to the Method, I have made choice of the most Natural and Entertaining that the Subject is capable of; and distributed Matters into such an Order, that the Learner may at the same time, and with the same Pains, with the Knowledge of the Words, understand the things themselves which they Express, with their Order and Dependance upon one another. We have Printed the Words that come from the Latin in the Roman Character, and added the Preterperfect Tenses and Supines to the Verbs.

² This is supposed to be the same with the Sōlēa, which had no upper Leather; so that it covered only the Sole of the Foot, being fastened above with Straps and Buckles.
